

Creative Digital Communication

Introduction

The Creative Digital Communication program at BINUS UNIVERSITY INTERNATIONAL is designed for the next generation of communication professionals ready to lead in an increasingly digital and global world. Anchored in a fusion of strategic insight, creative innovation, and technological fluency, this program prepares students to craft impactful communication in dynamic digital environments.

Structured around two streams — Strategic Communication and Entertainment Communication — the program empowers students to specialize in areas aligned with their career aspirations. These streams balance creative production and strategic planning, enabling learners to master audience engagement, brand development, content innovation, and digital media management. Emphasizing both local relevance and global adaptability, the curriculum fosters cross-disciplinary competencies through the integration of communication theory, design thinking, media analytics, and emerging technologies.

The learning experience blends academic study with hands-on projects and industry-aligned assignments. Students are encouraged to develop critical thinking, digital fluency, ethical awareness, and adaptive problem-solving in the evolving media landscape.

Graduates of this program will be equipped with the professional knowledge, creative capabilities, and technological skills necessary to thrive in diverse communication industries — not only within Indonesia, but also on a global stage. The program cultivates a forward-thinking mindset, empowering students to enter the international workforce with confidence and competence.

Vision

A world class Creative Digital Communication study program preparing students to become communication professionals with digital resiliency to foster and empower the society in building and serving the nation.

Mission

The mission of Creative Digital Communication program is to build the nation and to contribute to global community development by providing world class education in the area of communication by means of:

- 1. Nurturing BINUSIAN with strong character by integrating a holistic approach with global digital communication standards.
- 2. Addressing national challenges through high-impact research, leveraging digital media, data analytics, and emerging communication trends.
- 3. Promoting lifelong learning by encouraging self-enrichment through interactive digital experiences, content creation, and new media storytelling.
- 4. Empowering students to enhance society's quality of life, using digital platforms, social engagement campaigns, and immersive communication strategies.
- 5. Integrating innovation within BINUS Higher Education, driving transformation through digital storytelling, Al-driven content strategies, and cutting-edge communication tools.

Program Objectives

The objectives of the program are:

- 1. Equip students with a strong understanding of communication theories and models and train them to apply these in creating effective and creative digital strategies for real-world problems.
- Develop students' leadership and teamwork skills to manage diverse teams in delivering digital communication projects, while promoting ethical behaviour, cultural awareness, and social responsibility.
- 3. Train students to effectively use digital tools and technology to produce creative and impactful communication materials efficiently.

Student Outcomes

Upon completion of the 4-year program, students should be:

- 1. Able to conduct social research using a communication perspective.
- 2. Able to perform multi-channel communication.
- 3. Able to implement humanity values and professional ethics in communication practices
- 4. Able to generate and clarify concepts and ideas for producing communication messages, multimedia content creation and storytelling
- 5. Able to show leadership, teamwork, adaptability, and a growth mindset while working in a diverse team to plan, execute, and evaluate communication projects with a strategic, problem-solving approach.
- 6. Able to apply technological tools and analytics to assess and strengthen communication strategies in response to evolving technological and social trends.
- 7. Able to apply interdisciplinary knowledge and skills in developing alternative solutions for problem-solving.

The curriculum is designed to develop students into digitally fluent communicators by combining interdisciplinary theory, hands-on application, and future-focused technologies. From foundational knowledge in digital storytelling and audience analysis to advanced skillsets in data analytics, AI tools, and media research, students experience a dynamic learning journey. Throughout the program, they engage in collaborative projects, practical assignments, and simulated industry scenarios that reflect the rapidly changing demands of the communication landscape. This approach ensures that graduates are not only adept in multimedia production and strategic communication but are also critical thinkers capable of navigating complex digital ecosystems.

Career pathways for graduates span a wide range of roles in the digital media and communication industries. Those specializing in Strategic Communication are prepared for careers such as digital PR specialists, brand strategists, corporate communication officers, crisis response consultants, and stakeholder engagement managers. Students in the Entertainment Communication stream are equipped to work as multimedia storytellers, event managers, lifestyle content creators, visual designers, and digital publication editors. With key competencies in visual storytelling, audience targeting, brand activation, and digital innovation, graduates are primed to contribute to organizations seeking forward-thinking, tech-savvy communicators.

Graduates of the Creative Digital Communication program stand out for their adaptability, global outlook, and innovation-driven mindset. Many go on to work in digital agencies, multinational corporations, media outlets, tech startups, and purpose-driven organizations. BINUS UNIVERSITY INTERNATIONAL supports students' career readiness through access to mentoring programs, industry talks, digital portfolio development, and job placement services via BINUS Career. With advanced technological skills, creative versatility, and strategic insight, alumni are empowered to excel in national and international settings as leaders in the evolving world of digital communication. This support service can be accessed from www.binuscareer.com.

Title: S.I.kom.(Sarjana Ilmu Komunikasi)

Stream: Strategic Communication (Single Degree)

The Strategic Communication stream equips students with the skills to design, lead, and evaluate effective communication strategies in a digitally connected world. This stream focuses on corporate and organizational communication, public relations, brand activation, audience analysis, and crisis management. Students will develop a strong foundation in digital PR, stakeholder engagement, and media strategy while mastering AI-enhanced tools. Through project-based learning, they gain practical experience in crafting persuasive messages, managing reputations, and leading strategic campaigns in both corporate and public contexts.

Stream: Entertainment Communication (Single Degree)

The Entertainment Communication stream prepares students to create, manage, and promote digital content within the creative industries. With a focus on visual narratives, content production, event planning, and lifestyle and entertainment publications, students gain expertise in shaping experiences and storytelling across media platforms. This stream emphasizes innovation in the creative economy by integrating design thinking, user engagement, and digital publishing tools. Students will explore and build portfolios of compelling multimedia work and engage in collaborative projects that simulate real-world communication challenges in areas such as fashion, sports, gaming, and digital events.

Teaching, Learning, and Assessment Strategies

The teaching and learning process in the Creative Digital Communication program is conducted in small-class settings, allowing students to benefit from a personalized and interactive learning environment led by internationally experienced lecturers. Learning is centered on project-based and experiential approaches, enabling students to engage directly in real-world communication challenges across diverse media platforms. Students will explore communication theories while applying them through lectures, workshops, collaborative projects, and coaching clinics.

Students are introduced early to foundational digital competencies through the course Foundations of Artificial Intelligence and later engage in Al-embedded courses that apply machine learning, data visualization, and predictive analytics to communication problems. Courses such as digital content production, text mining, audience analysis, and UI/UX design are strategically developed to blend creative storytelling with advanced information technologies, ensuring students acquire both conceptual insight and technical fluency.

Assessment strategies include both formative and summative evaluations, with a strong emphasis on authentic assessment methods such as project submissions, digital portfolios, campaign prototypes, and multimedia presentations. Peer review, assessment from industry practitioners, and Al-assisted evaluation tools. Feedback is delivered through multiple channels — in-class discussions, annotated rubrics, digital platforms, and personalized feedback forms — all designed to support student reflection and continuous improvement.

Learning is further enhanced through modern facilities, including a multimedia auditorium, creative classroom, and an analytic lab. With strong support from entrepreneurial and research divisions, students also benefit from mentorship opportunities with industry experts, allowing them to deepen their expertise in specialized fields such as entertainment communication, digital strategy, and media innovation.

Study Completion Requirements

Prior to graduation, students are expected to complete some supporting graduate requirements including Student Activity Transcript (SAT) points, social hours, and international experience, on top of passing the academic courses. Students are also required to write a thesis report submitted for the final year project. In the implementation, Binus facilitates the students with a wide range of opportunities to meet all the requirements.

Major in Communication

To complete a major in Communications at BINUS UNIVERSITY INTERNATIONAL, students must complete a minimum of 146 scu (academic credits).
